Q: How can I add a button to a PDF form that will send the form as attachment by email with a custom email subject? A: PDF Studio supports using submitForm as a Javascript action to send the current PDF form by email. Below is an example showing a button with submitForm action and a text field to be sent as email subject. The text field could contain for instance a unique identifier for the data contained in the form, such as the customer name, social security number, or a patient insurance ID which will be sent as the subject of the email. 1. Create a Push Button and a Text field (change the name to MyTextField) 2. Right click on the Button -> Properties -> select Actions 3. Select Add -> select JavaScript action from "Action" list 4. Copy and paste the following code. var customSubject = this.getField("MyTextField").value; var mailtoUrl = "mailto:studiosupport@qoppa.com?subject=" + customSubject; this.submitForm({ cURL: mailtoUrl, cSubmitAs: "PDF" }); OR var customSubject = this.getField("MyTextField").value; var mailtoUrl = "mailto:studiosupport@qoppa.com?subject=" + customSubject; this.submitForm({ cURL: mailtoUrl, bPDF:true }); 5. Change email address, subject and body to contain the information you wish to see. 6. Click OK to apply the save the JavaScript action. When you click on the button, PDF Studio will ask permission and then open the mail application with the subject, body specified above and the form data as an attachment. e sure your email application has been configured correctly. You can refer to our knowledge base entry to change default email application. Q: How can I create PDF interactive forms that have auto calculations on them? A: PDF Studio 9 and above is capable of creating PDF forms with custom calculations. You have the ability to use some of the preset simple calculations or advanced custom calculations using JavaScript. This is very useful for when you want values entered into a form calculated automatically. For example: summing up a total on an invoice sheet to give to a customer. Below are the steps used to setup the calculation function within a PDF document. Adding Calculations to Forms Open the document that you wish to add calculations to Make sure you are in the Form Field editing mode. On the menu bar select Forms->Create/Edit Form Make sure to create all of the Text Fields that you need in the document first. For more information regarding on how to create Text Fields see Creating Text Fields. Make sure that you have correctly named all of the Form Fields in your document to make it easier to setup the calculations Select the Text Field that you would like to perform the calculation and open up the Text Field Properties. This can be done by either double clicking on the field, or right clicking and selecting Properties. In the Properties window select the Calculate tab On this screen you will see your options available to set calculations. You have two available options: Simple Calculation – This option allows you to create simple calculations using the fields on the form. To setup the Simple Calculation, first select the option for "Field value has a simple calculation:" Then select the type of calculation you would like from the drop down menu. Select the fields from the list you would like to be included in the calculation. To select more than one field from the list either click and drag the mouse or hold Ctrl and click the fields that you need from the list. Only highlighted fields will be used in the calculation. (You can also select other fields such as Combo or List Boxes to be used in calculations) You have the below options available for simple calculations: Sum (+) – adds the fields together Product (x) – multiplies the fields together Average – returns the average value of all the fields Minimum – Returns the lowest value from all fields Maximum – Returns the highest value of all the fields Custom Calculation – The Custom Calculation allows you to perform more advanced calculations using Javascript. You will need to have advance knowledge in programming JavaScript in order to create the actions for the buttons. For more information regarding JavaScript in PDF Studio see Supported JavaScript To setup the Custom Calculation select the option for "This field has a custom calculation:" and type in the JavaScript calculation that you would like to perform. Once you have completed setting either a Simple or Custom calculations click on OK Repeat steps 1- 10 to create as many List Boxes as you need. Once complete click on the Stop Form Editing button on the toolbar to close the form editor and save the document The Form Calculations will now be ready for you to use Use a bank statement generator template to make your document workflow more streamlined. If you can't find an answer to your question, please don't hesitate to reach out to us. Need help? Contact support The only time I know that financial statements are asked for is when one applies for a business or personal loan, or applying for a mortgage. Each bank or credit union can have their own document requirements, however for each transaction. It really is at their discretion. Somewhere on that form should be a blank for routing number and account number. Those are available from your check and/or your bank statements. If you can't find them, call the bank and ask or go by their office for help with the form. As long as those numbers are entered correctly, any error you make in spelling, location or naming should not influence the eventual deposit into your proper account. I want to believe that most banks nowadays have made the process of opening bank account, which used to be cumbersome, less cumbersome. All you need to do is to approach the bank, collect the form, and fill. However if you have any difficulty in filling it, you can always call on one of the banks rep to help you out. It doesn't sound like you understand how PHP handles forms. The usual scenario is you present the user with an HTML page that contains the form. The action attribute of the opening form tag indicates the webpage that will process the submitted form (and confirm to the user that it has done so). The form-processing page will contain PHP code to do what you need to do with the contents of the form. For example, it will usually store the information in a server-side database, like MySQL. It might also send an email to someone.If you want to provide the user with a downloadable, editable form, you could do that by having PHP create a PDF with the submitted data I can't imagine why you'd want to do that, but it's possible. fake bank statement template free editable wells fargo bank statement template bank statement template excel bank statement generator free online bank of america bank statement generator free fake bank statement generator fake bank of america statement template Use professional pre-built templates to fill in and sign documents online faster.
